Journal of Buddhist Education and Research (JBER)
Vol. 3 No. 1 (January-June 2017)

Aims and Scope:
Journal of Buddhist Education and Research is an international journal aiming to promote and disseminate knowledge in the areas of Buddhist studies integrated with other fields of education and research.

Publishing Schedule
Number 1 (January-June)
Number 2 (July - December)

Criteria for Articles Peer Review and Selection
All articles will be considered by at least two peer reviewers, experienced in related fields and approved by editorial committees before getting published. The peer review process therefore uses ‘Double-Blind Review’ as the most important practice, viz. the reviewers do not know personal data of the authors before such as names, work backgrounds. Correspondingly, the author does not know the peer viewers.

The article published in this journal must not be published or under the process of consideration of the scholars in any other journals. The author has to fulfil all the requirements of this journal and work on its format.

The aspect and opinion of the author are regarded as the responsibility of the author; hence, this is not a viewpoint of the editorial committees of the journal.
